Both Beth and Cia attended many of the various sports activities. Football was a bit confusing to the girls, but they soon caught on as to how the game was played. The two girls spent a full year in the United States and graduated with the senior class in June.

The '72 ESP club was headed by President Sherry Restelli. It consisted of students from MHS that were interested in different countries and their ways of life. Both Cia and Beth were members of the exchange student program.

For 1971-72 Class Play

On March 23 and 24 this year's senior class presented the intriguing, three act comedy, "Personal Appearance". Director, Mrs. Martha Thomas, worked with the cast and committees.

There were nine production staffs each headed by a chairman. They were House Management and Tickets, Debbie Hill; Publicity, Cindy Henry; Programs, Kelly Sharp; Make-up, Kathy Smouse; Set Decorations, Miss Bolus; Properties, Zoe Ann Sheehan; Usherettes, Debbie Williams; Stage Crew, Richard Manley and Tom Marietta; and Sound effects, Denny Davidson.

With mischievous thoughts in mind, Carole gets Bud's attention by feeding him a midnight snack.

Senior Class Play Marks Return To Nostalgia

"Personal Appearance" was first produced October 17, 1934, at the Henry Miller Theatre on Broadway, under the direction of the successful team of Brock Pemberton and Antonette Perry, for whom the famous Tony Awards are named.

Like so many theatrical offerings now on stage, screen, and television, this play follows the current trend of returning to the nostalgic days of the 1930's. With the Nation easing a bit from the depression years, people were flocking to the movies, where such magnetic stars as Clark Gable, Robert Taylor, Marlene Dietrich, Mae West, and Jean Harlowe were idolized.

Jessie, Carole's maid, listens attentively to instructions.

Aunt Kate questions the opinion of Gene Tuttle, Carole Arden's agent.

Clyde Pelton can't understand why Gladys, his girlfriend, doesn't like his working on greasy cars.

Thursday night's cast includes Steve Smith, Peggy Cashell, Stephanie Stahlheber, Vickie Schlupp, John Bogner, Susan Hall, Elmer Baldrige, Dave Kearney, Lori Beeman, and Pam Lawless.

Electronics VICA and Drafting AIDD Obtain New Skills

A thorough study of the blueprint is always necessary before a drawing can be completed.

Robert Tolliver, as President of Drafting AIDD, led the club to another successful year. Edwin Schlupp and Thomas Middleton did outstandingly well in a nation-wide design contest sponsored by The American Institute for Design and Drafting. Mansfield Senior High School is one of only three schools in the entire state of Ohio where drafting courses are accredited. The Drafting Club also supplied all the drawings for Gorman-Rupp and all the plans and layouts for Distl's Meat Market. The Club has already proposed a drawing for a new race track which evolved from their own ideas. The electronics club, led by President Ricky Manley, participated in several trouble shooting contests and field trips, to places of vocational interest. With the aid of Vice-President, John Hood and club advisor, Mr. Miu, the electronics club held a prosperous candy sale. Both Clubs look optimistically to the future and the experiences that follow.

The Machine Shop under the assistance of Mr. Cook proceeded through the academic year in fine fashion. Bill Parr, as President, supplied the leadership and determination for another outstanding season. With the help of Herman Lester and Dave Stoltz, Vice President and Treasurer respectively, the club took several field trips and managed a canoe trip. Such activities brought the club closer together, and allowed each member to better understand his fellow classmates and their ideals. VICA contests in the northwest region were targets of the machine shop club. With these contests, the club proved their confidence and excellent training. The Auto VICA club under the direction of Mr. Altman and Mr. Harris gained valuable experience for future vocational training. The Auto VICA club entered the VICA trouble-shooting contests, again demonstrating their excellent knowledge and understanding of the automobile and its mechanisms. Both clubs look to the future with bright hopes and rewarding goals.

Commencement, the End of High School Life

Twila Walker, president of the senior class, leads the class in the turning of the tassels, which marks their birth in the new world.

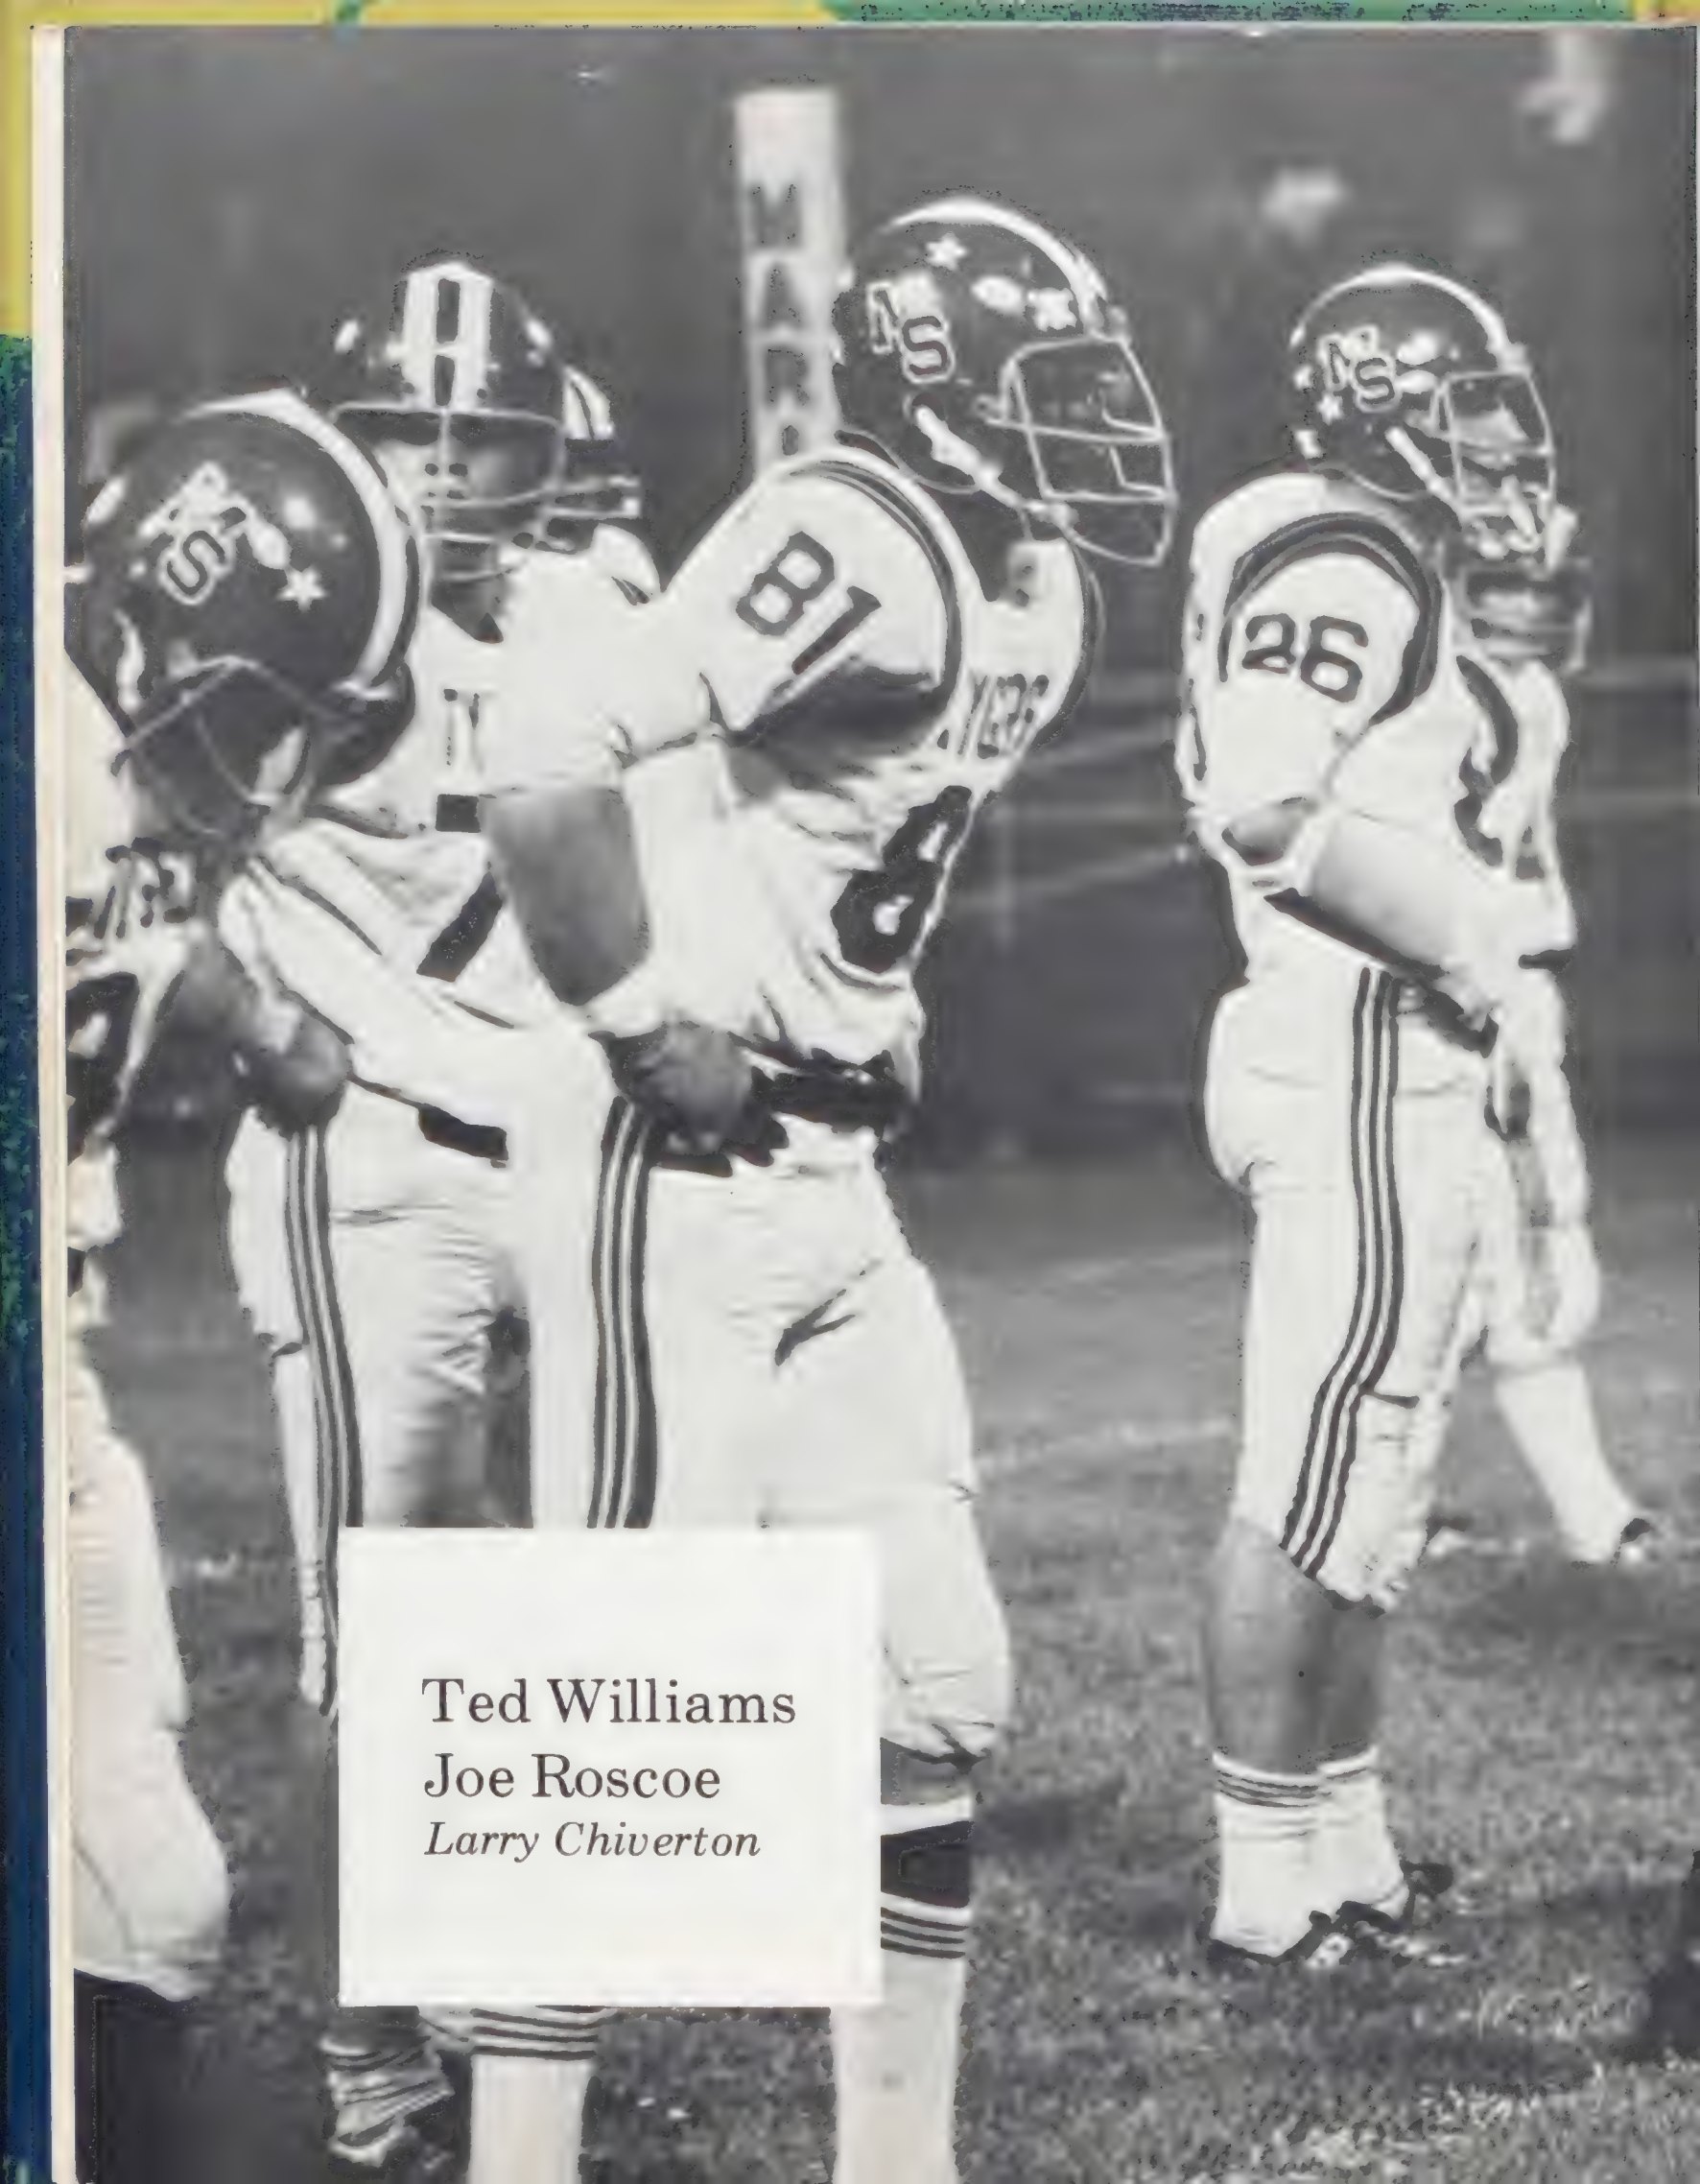

The senior class of '72 formally ended its stay at Mansfield Senior High on June seventh at Arlin Field. The Reverend Lenard Leggett gave an inspiring sermon under clear skies at Baccalaureate ceremonies.

Perfect summer weather, along with 5,000 people, helped make commencement memorable. Former Senior High graduate, William P. Cline, addressed the seniors with his views on "bridging the generation gap." Cline advised the red and white robed graduates and the attentive audience to work and teach together. He encouraged them to gain valuable knowledge and understanding through their experiences with others.

Twila Walker, the first female president of a Mansfield Senior High School graduating class, welcomed the guests and classmates after the invocation by Father Robert Thomas of St. Peter's. The Reverend Joel King, pastor of Mr. Herman Baptist Church, gave the benediction. The "Presentation of the Class" of 1972 was performed by Mr. Arlo Plough, principal of MHS, who also introduced Dr. Marvin Dees, a member of the Mansfield Board of Education. Dr. Dees, with the assistance of School Board member Thomas Scott, accepted the graduating class and awarded diplomas to the seniors. Twila Walker and Ted Williams, President and Vice-President respectively, led the seniors through their graduating procession to and from their places in the center of the stadium.

Underclassmen Show Great Potential

With ten of twenty-two starters returning next year as Seniors, the TYGERS will have a good nucleus to build around. The team promises to be the strongest team, physically, that MHS has seen in recent years. This will be largely the result of a demanding physical fitness program instituted by Coach Lutz over the past few seasons. These promising underclassmen include Jim Baehrens, Tom Finnerty, Rick Trammell, Paul Johnson, Henry Gibbs, Terone Butler, Joe Beard, Charles Black, and Charlie White.

Golf Team Completes

Long Season

The 1972 golf team experienced a rough season. Their winless season was, perhaps, the most disappointing endeavor of the year for a Tiger sports team. However, all of the top five golfers will return next year. Among them will be the year's most valuable player, Tim Hager.

1. ROW 1: Riggleman, Hager. ROW 2: Coach Montague, Catlett, Kopp. 2. Most valuable player, Tim Hager, tees off. 3. Charlie Riggleman sharpens his putting eye. 4. Junior Greg Kopp shows fine form.

A black and white photograph of a man, John Bogner, in a laboratory. He is wearing a light-colored lab coat and is leaning over a workbench. His right arm is extended, and he appears to be holding a small object or tool. On the workbench, there is a large piece of laboratory equipment, possibly a scale or a balance, with a vertical rod and a horizontal arm. In the background, there is a large, dark rectangular area, likely a chalkboard or a window. The overall scene suggests a scientific or educational environment.

Staff Run a Productive and Prosperous Year

Before going into the office, Mr. Plough checks the hall situation.

A change took place in the administrative staff last year. Mr. Richard Franta was hired as assistant Principal in charge of student discipline. Mr. Arlo Plough headed the staff for his fifth year as Principal, while Mr. D. Wayne Powell remained as Assistant Principal in charge of Attendance.

In his fourth year as superintendent of schools, Mr. Robert E. Glass directed a successful year with the help of Mr. Lowell Smith, Personnel Director.

Mr. George Hall and Mr. Thomas Scott were elected as President and Vice-President, respectively. The Board of Education also consisted of three hard working board members, who planned for the betterment of Mansfield Public Schools. They were Dr. Marvin Dees, Mr. David Kafer, and Mr. George Murray. Mrs. Frieda Forrest was the clerk-treasurer.

The English Department worked to improve each student's ability to convey information and ideas, both through spoken and written English. To instill interest, students were given a wide range of courses to choose from. Ten courses in English were offered this year to the juniors. Seniors had used this type of program for some time, and next year's sophomores will be included in this program.

The aim of the Foreign Language Department is to give an understanding of the cultures of languages being studied, and to teach the art of communication both in writing and speaking.

The History Department aids students in gaining an understanding and appreciation of our national heritage. Students have been provided with visual aids, texts, maps, and field trips to bring into focus the making and preserving of history all around us.

The Physical Education Department aims to keep students in top physical condition and interest them in various school sports.

The Mathematics Department of Mansfield Senior High School is quite diversified in its offerings. The curriculum ranges from Basic Mathematics to Calculus and College Math. They aim to develop understanding, accuracy, and the ability to use the problem-solving method.

The Science Department tries to generate enthusiasm in science so that students may better understand the problems of everyday life. Laboratory time was set up so that students could develop scientific skills and prepare for their future study of science.

The Fine Arts Department's aim is to broaden and enrich the life of the "sensitive" student by teaching him to see, feel, understand, and appreciate art, not only as a subject, but as a meaningful experience to enrich various career objectives.

The aim of the Vocational Department of Mansfield Senior High was to prepare students for future careers and placement in technical schools. Students were trained in drafting, wood and metal working, electronics, and auto repair.

Business Teachers prepared students who were interested in future office work. Seniors in Cooperative Office Education were placed in offices to gain the practical skills of business work.

The Home Economics Department made an effort to teach students the skills of clothing construction, color coordination, child care, menu planning, marketing, grooming, personal relationships, consumer education, and home furnishing.

Efficiently

The secretaries, counselors, and librarians greeted students with a smile and tried to help them to the best of their ability. Counselors promoted understanding between students, faculty, and parents. They also helped students make important decisions concerning scheduling and college plans, which will lay the foundations for their future. Secretaries had many duties, such as making important daily announcements, recording absences, and distributing IBM cards for grade reports, as well as carrying on administrative correspondence. Librarians showed students the techniques of library use.

The cooks at MHS made delicious and nutritious meals that helped students make it through their day of hard work.

MHS custodians had many janitorial duties. They kept the school at a comfortable temperature, replaced worn-out items, and made a clean workable atmosphere.

Seniors Prepare for Graduation

Class treasurer, Kathy Smouse, checks in class dues.

We, the Class of 1972, have now completed twelve years of our schooling. Some of us have been together since grade school — the years of playing tag and four-square on the playground and making our first advances toward the opposite sex. Then we advanced to Junior High where we met new kids from "that other grade school." Boy! were we mature then! We started having and using B.O. spray and all sorts of neat things like that. Then, after we finished off those years, they threw us all into one big school and

Our Sophomore year money-making projects such as candy sales, car washes, and an "Ugly Contest" helped get the class off to a good start. Officers were President Bob Bowen, Vice-President Ted Williams, Secretary Julie Parker, and Treasurer Donna Gardner, and our advisors were Mr. Marchant and Mrs. Bowman.

During our Junior year, we concentrated mainly on Homecoming activities. Queen Alice Bond was crowned at the Homecoming Assembly and presided over the game and dance that evening. A new set of officers replaced the old. Twila Walker was President; Ted Williams, Vice-President; Kelly Tharp, Secretary; and Debbie Stevenson, Treasurer.

Then came our big year, our Senior year; the year we were leaders. The success of the school was in our hands. Through the help of our officers, President Twila Walker, Vice-President Ted Williams, Secretary Kelly Tharp, and newly-elected treasurer Kathy Smouse, and our advisors, we put forth our best effort and emerged as a successful class. We involved ourselves in activities ranging from football to the chess club, and excelled in areas from auto mechanics to physics.

With a little help from the underclassmen, we staged a successful "Bengal Productions Presents" Varsity Varieties. Mrs. Martha Thomas directed Personal Appearance, another fantastic Senior Class Play. Queen Lori Beeman and her court helped in our prominent track assembly. Then, as our Senior year was coming to an end, we saw fellow students and friends honored during class exercises. Finally, the Prom, Baccalaureate, and what we all had waited for, Commencement.

None of the future classes of MHS will ever be exactly the same as the class of 1972, but we hope that they will have as many happy memories as we have.

Our Special Thanks . . .

We owe a great deal to the members of our staff, who not only worked hard to put together the Manhigan, but who also served as this year's business staff. We would also like to thank Cindy Henry, our business manager, Regina Arter, our photographer, and Donna Gardner, who provided us with the artwork.

We also wish to express our appreciation to our advisor, Mr. David Gross, and to the American Yearbook representative, Mr. Earl Parks.

At this time we would like to extend our thanks to the Class of 1972 for their financial aid.

In closing, we wish next year's staff the best of luck and hope that they will have as many memorable experiences as we had.
